A year in pictures: what we accomplished together in 2021 Our supporters and partners reached over 25 million people last year through Oxfam's humanitarian and programmatic work. We hope all of us can take a moment of reflection and pride in this snapshot of stories that hint of the work we accomplished together to make a real difference in many millions of people's lives in 2021.
There is nothing equal about the climate crisis Destructive weather, rising seas, unprecedented fires and historic famines. Climate change is happening now. It is one of the most harmful drivers of worsening hunger, migration, poverty and inequality all over the world. Despite this, governments have delayed action to tackle the climate crisis to focus instead on the Covid-19 pandemic.	Dofollow
Ending gender-based violence is possible Before the Covid-19 pandemic 1 in 3 women experienced physical or sexual violence in their lifetime. With Covid-19 the situation got worse for many. Yet, nowhere near enough is being done to end it. Immediate action is needed now to fight gender-based violence. It starts with governments. It starts with social norms change. It starts with taking action.	Dofollow

Oxfam urges UN Security Council to inject new urgency into peace talks to end conflict in Yemen Oxfam today called on the UN Security Council to condemn the recent attacks in Yemen and inject new urgency into peace talks to end the seven-year conflict. The call follows airstrikes that have killed and injured hundreds of civilians in the last week and led to the suspension of humanitarian aid in parts of the country. At the same time, people are struggling with spiraling prices for food, fuel, and basic essentials in what was already one of the world's largest humanitarian crises.	Dofollow
New sanctions risk plunging the people of Mali further into humanitarian crisis, warns Oxfam In reaction to the EU and US announcement of new sanctions against Mali, Oxfam and 12 other NGOs called for the international community to protect the people of Mali.	Dofollow
Over 100 millionaires call for wealth taxes on the richest to raise revenue that could lift billions out of poverty A group of over 100 millionaires and billionaires from nine countries published today an open letter to government and business leaders, calling for permanent annual wealth taxes on the very richest to help reduce extreme inequality and raise revenue for sustained, long-term increases in public services like healthcare.
